The number of participants can be increased by a decision of the Committee, if technically possible.

There is a minimum of 24 starting places for each class.

1.4 Decision of ties

If the first place is shared by two or more players with equal results, the winner shall be decided in a sudden-death format play-off immediately after the competition on holes decided by the committee. Winner will be the player with the lowest score after the play-off hole. The player with the highest number of strokes will be the last in the play-off. If the lowest score is achieved by two or more players, then the play-off will continue on the holes decided by the committee until the winner is identified. If two or more players drop out with the same score in play-off, then their rankings will be determined under the principle better result in stroke play on the last 18, 9, 6, 3, and 1 holes. If there is still a tie, then the better result is decided by lot.

If the rest of the medals (except for the first place) remain shared by two or more competitors, then their rankings will be determined under the principle better result on last 18, 9, 6, 3 and 1 holes. If the tie remains, then the better result is decided by lot.

The medals of the Estonian Championship and mementos will be divided according to the rankings of the class.
